

“Call for Articles” to IAPD Members

August/September 2010 Issue

SPECIAL FEATURE: Plastics Machining and Equipment

This issue will also include a preview of the IAPD 54th Annual Convention to be held September 21-24, 2010, in Indianapolis, IN, USA. This issue will have extra distribution at the convention!

How-to or application articles are requested from IAPD members only. Submitted articles must adhere to IAPD's special feature/product focus guidelines.

IAPD EDITORIAL GUIDELINES:

- How-to articles should include knowledge or technical information about techniques, processes or advantages of plastic machining and equipment (in generic references).
- Case stories should explain a certain project accomplished by your company (or in conjunction with a customer) FYI — if the customer is a distributor or processor, the company must be a member of IAPD.
- Article content must be informative or educational — not merely a commercialized article promoting your company, products or services.
- No trade names may be used throughout the article. Fabricating/machining equipment mentioned in articles must be noted as generic types of equipment (i.e., CNC router).
- Authors are allowed four-color product photos or application photos to be published with the article. (Please note: trade names may be used in photo captions.)
- Articles are subject to approval by the IAPD Editorial Committee.
- Articles will be scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis.
- Limit is 800 to 1,500 word count.
- Articles must be e-mailed in a Microsoft Word document to Janet Thill — e-mail: jthill@iapd.org.
- If digital photos are being used in an article, they must be sent as separate photo files (such as a jpeg or tif), not embedded in a Word document.

Deadline to submit articles is July 23, 2010.

To reserve editorial space, please fax this form today to (913) 345-1006 or e-mail Janet Thill at jthill@iapd.org.
